

Continuity Management Program

Is your continuity management program ready?

Your Sales VP was asked by your best customer to review your Business Continuity Plan as a prerequisite to renewing their contract with your company.

During the executive team meeting the next morning the announcement was met with one or more of the following responses:

- ✓ “Don’t we have a plan? I thought we had a plan!”
- ✓ “Is Information Technology responsible for that?”
- ✓ “I thought we bought insurance for that?”
- ✓ “We just haven’t had time to put together our plan. It hasn’t been a priority.”
- ✓ “Does anyone have an idea of exactly what a good plan and program should look like?”

Sound familiar?

FDI Consulting, Inc. has helped organizations just like yours face the challenge of developing superior Business Continuity Management Programs (BCMP) and consistently delivers positive results! Most companies just don’t have the internal resources to address these challenges alone. Some have turned to “cookie cutter” continuity planning templates to respond to the regulatory and contractual pressures that have increased over the past few years, with less than desirable results. FDI has assisted numerous organizations by guiding them through the complexities and delivering customer specific programs, prepared for the unique nuisance associated with your business, quickly, economically, and professionally.

FDI’s BCMP has empowered organizations to exceed their organizational readiness goals. We incorporate our proven best practices to create comprehensive continuity management programs that auditors endorse and you can bet your business on.

FDI is the logical choice to strengthen your organization’s preparedness and provides the expertise to help you prepare for the unexpected.
